Positioned along a quiet rural lane surrounded by other large-lot, lifestyle properties and open farmland you'll find 9A Scott Street in the pastoral hamlet of Wallalong.

Family friendly features were a must in the design of this home, including an open-plan layout which includes a kitchen that overlooks the yard and plenty of built-in storage for a quick tidying up when guests come over. Because of the large rooms and high ceilings there is a real airiness to the interiors.

Get your steps up over the five bedrooms and three living areas, but what you will love is that there's a real separation between the spaces with the palatial master bedroom suite on the other side of the home to the minor bedrooms.

A bedroom should be a sanctuary, a peaceful place and here it has been treated differently to the rest of the home. Furniture recesses, a drool worthy dressing room and vast ensuite combine to create a luxurious feeling.

The south facing sitting room at the front of the home catches beautiful filtered morning light and makes an ideal spot to enjoy a morning cup of tea but it's location off the remaining bedrooms would just as easily make it a comfortable kids zone.

For a growing family, the ability to sit around a kitchen bench is essential. We spend so much time around that hub; the island in the kitchen is where families congregate on weekdays homework for the kids and cooking for grown-ups. Here an L-shaped stone island bench complete with seating around two sides provides the beating heart of the home.

Expanses of glass stacker doors frame the main living area, drawing daylight and the green landscape into the room which wraps around the kitchen. Large format tiles in this part of the house look seamless and contemporary.

When the warmer weather comes, the pool is defiantly the place to be. Saturdays and Sundays here will be given over to lazy lunches followed by afternoons spent swimming. A sun trap, the walled and glass fenced pool area with bar and entertaining area means you can holiday at home all summer long. Truly, a fantastic spot to connect with the family.

With 3,565 square meters of yard or just under an acre, options abound. Perhaps your heart desires chickens and walled vegetable plots, maybe building your dream shed with room for all the toys is what you are after or it may be that running some small scale livestock in the area at the rear already set up as a paddock is what you are craving. It really is a choose your own adventure.

This home beautifully caters for every occasion from a quiet night in to a party for plenty so inspect it now.

Around Wallalong

WALLALONG

Equidistant between Raymond Terrace and Maitland and only 10 minutes to the historical town of Morpeth, the hamlet of Wallalong holds plenty of its own history in the streets. Wallalong house, an impressive station featuring stunning Georgian and Victorian architecture is now recomposed as a wedding venue along and many splendid heritage homes line the High Street.

Bowthorne Co-operative Butter Factory was established in here in 1906 and while the building no longer stands, the area is still known as dairy country with working milking sheds and fresian cows dotting the landscape.

To the east, Wallalong is separated from the "high land" of Brandy Hill, previously known as Ahalton and Warren's Station Paddock.

We acknowledge the Traditional Custodians of Country throughout Australia and pay respects to their elders past, present and emerging. The suburb of Wallalong falls on the traditional lands of the Worimi people.
